Routing Plans

Routing plans are used to activate different routing applications on a service number.

An example scenario might be:

- Between 09:00 and 18:00, calls should be routed to your call center. You have programmed a routing application called Call Center Application for this purpose.
- On Saturdays, you have an external service provider between 10:00 and 14:00 who answers your calls. During this time, calls should be routed to that destination. For this, you have programmed an application Routing to Service Provider.
- At all other times (also in the evening), a voice mail should be recorded. You have programmed a routing application called Voice Mail for this purpose.
