

Configuring the ACD

The necessary elements and procedures to setup the ACD are discussed in the following sections. The configuration of users, groups, rules, skills, announcements, status and logging is described in the following sections.